Volume 12, Issue 1, 2009

Chris, It's been nine years since you found my son Roger for me. We have the most wonderful and loving relationship any mother and son could have. I now have a 3-1/2 year old granddaughter by Roger and his wife, who was named after my middle name. I am best friends with his loving adoptive mother. We all spent Christmas Eve and morning together. My youngest son, now 38 and Roger are enjoying a brotherly relationship of canoeing and camping, hanging out and sharing stories of their childhoods. What a blessing. Thank you for your services. You may use any portion of this as a testimony of your abilities to perform great services of bringing families back together again.

Hello Chris,

I spoke with my daughter today. All went perfect. She was calm, sweet, understanding, and very kind to me. She did not know that she was adopted but wondered because her parents were older. Thank you for such wonderful guidance!!! We are going to get to know each other. Our conversation went wonderfully! I am so thankful and happy! I will let you know how things go. I can never say thank you enough!

Sincerely,

LH - WA

Thank you, thank you thank you!!!!!!!!!!!!!! I have just returned from the bank at 3:15pm and have had the money wire transferred to your account.

I can't even begin to tell you how happy I am that you have found my brother. You are an angel sent from heaven to me. Now my 15 year mystery is nearly over. I hope that my contact with him goes as well as the case went for you and your staff. Please know that what you have done will make me grateful forever.

Again I can't say thank you enough,

JT - PA

Hello Chris,

I thought you would be happy to hear that my birthdaughter called me last night.

She told me that any of her personal friends that know her best would tell me that one of her worst fears was after her adoptive mom passed away that she would be alone in the world.

Now she is so happy to know that she has another mom and family. We had a wonderful talk. I think that I can be quite sure that all will fall into place. We have so much in common.

Thank you for what you do too. I will be forever grateful!

Bye for now, LH - WA

Hey, this is MR. I haven't spoken to you in several months, but I'm happy to report that all is well with the adoption search you helped me with in March. My father has been totally embraced by his family and I don't have one negative thing to report. Just last week his birthmother's oldest sister died and he was able to meet so many more family members at the aunt's funeral. This is all such a great story.

My father's birth certificate did not name the birth father, but my dad was given the birth father's name last Friday (as a gracious courtesy) We have a full name and birthday. My question is how do we know if this man is alive? I believe I found his current address by looking on the internet, but when we went to that location there was a moving truck and the house was being emptied. Can you give me some direction?

Thank you again for all that you do and have done for my father. It has made a huge difference in his life.

Dear Kinsolving,

Thank you so much for the information you sent " I would never have looked in Stewart County, it was 100 miles or more from where my family had been told! I don't know how you do it, but I'm glad that you can!

Like probably every other person receiving such information, I do not have the first idea what to do with it! I'm sorry my birth mother is gone since she alone has some of the answers I wanted. But I have two siblings, although I do not know if they know anything about me. Several months ago I received a call from a woman who worked for Kinsolving. She was a birth mother herself, if I remember correctly, and was very kind and understanding. I believe she said that kinsolving would help at least support me to some extent in the contact by helping me with knowledge kinsolving had gained in all these years of such searches. I know that the site talks about assisting with advice and the "odo"s and don'ts". So, I would like some of that advice and support if that's possible. I can't imagine just calling and saying "HEY, guess who?" LOL

*****

BTW, it turns out that for about 14 years (on and off), I lived within 15 miles of my birth mother and her family and from 1999-2004, I lived about 5 miles from my half brother. Life can be so strange. Thank you again, I am thoroughly impressed by how quickly you managed to get all this information.

Christine

Thank you so much for this. I will send you a progress update on what happens from this point forward.

I would like to personally thank you for closing a huge door that was open in my life. While I know there are many other challenges that I might face meeting my family, you have given me for the first time in my life information on who I am as a person and the hope I can finally see other people who I resemble and understand who and what I am.

God bless you

After searching for 27 years, I ran across your company on April 17, 1991 quite by accident. After speaking with ya'll, it was only a week, April 23 when you called and said ya'll had found my son.

By 10 AM the next morning I had my son's name, address, and phone #. At 8 pm I spoke with my son for the first time. There are no words to express the feeling of finding my son. I felt like I had my heart removed years before and all of the sudden it started beating. Nothing I can say would ever be enough.

I have written about my experience in my new book, Pieces of my Heart, which will soon be released.

Thank you for giving me back my only child He looks just like me and so do his kids:

God Bless you for this wonderful service. Feel free to put me on the reference list.

Hello Chris,

I've intended to write before now, but have been in such a happy fog, I didn't get to it.

My daughter) and I have communicated briefly since Dec. 23 and I hope to meet her soon.

The holidays, etc. have prevented that from happening, as yet. She, her husband and my son did meet for lunch and had a wonderful, fun time. He said they just kept staring at each other...was a bit like looking into a mirror. She is almost identical in looks and personality to my youngest daughter. Both my other two daughters have sent her lots of pictures and they are slowly getting to know each other. We are trying to take this by baby steps...not wanting to completely overwhelm her or ourselves, but I can hardly wait to spend some time with her in person. I'm amazed that we have practically lived in each other's back yards for most of these years, she and my son were at ECC at the same time(they both breathed a sigh of relief that they didn't date each other!!!)..her maiden name and my daughter's married name are the same ...on and on it goes. There's no way that I can ever thank you enough for the search.

So.....now I have 4 children and 8 grandchildren...how wonderful. I can't thank you enough for having the know-how to get this done. Keep doing it ...you're changing lives for the better. AM

Hi Chris,

Not sure if you remember me, you'd found my biomom for me late in 2008. I wasn't able to make contact with her right away, and then didn't want to call over the Christmas holidays, and then she was screening her calls, but I guess finally curiosity got the better of her and she answered my call today.

I can't even describe how great the moment was when I realized that she was as excited as I was. Everyone already knew about me, she shared with her husband right away and was crying and shaking. But she composed herself quickly (more than I can say for myself!) and we talked for a good while. She's going to put me in touch with my half sisters, since she doesn't have email herself, and I am excited for that, too! And I am going to send her photos... she wasn't 100% sure who my biofather was, maybe that'll clear things up, I don't know.

Anyway it went really well, I think, and again thank you so much for not just finding her but all of your guidance about how to make this contact! Please let me know if there's more that I should be aware of or should make sure I do - your insights when we talked were really helpful and there was a ton I hadn't considered.

Best of everything to you and thank you again.

Wow, she has been right under me the whole time. I went to college two blocks away from previous address in Northridge CA from 1993 - 1997. Chris you are absolutely amazing.

What more can I say â€œ I can never thank you enough.

Chris,

You gave me such good advice which I did follow. I am so thrilled that it went so well. I think she might tell her children, she asked for my email address because her daughter has a lot of the photos.

I am excited to speak to you with more coaching advice on my BF, but I am busy this week.

I feel like I am living in a dream world thanks to all of you! Please say a special thanks to all who were involved in my case!

Thanks so much for all your wonderful help,

Well I did it!!! I called my birthmother today & it went fantastic. I followed your instructions and it all went well. I was very emotional. She gave me her address (which matches what you gave me) & wants me to definitely come and visit. I gave her my information & she was very receptive to the phone call.

I asked about her medical & she is healthy except for osteoarthritis which I also have. She has 3 children: 2 boys & a girl ( 2 in FL & 1 in NY). 54, 52 & 40 who is from 2nd marriage. Her 1st husband dies when D was 4 months old from hepatitis. She & her children are all fine.

She has grandchildren & 1 great grandchild. She asked me to call later if I call during the week as she is still working part time!

My birthfather does know about me & I need coaching about contacting him when you have time. She has not had contact with him & said that she does not know if he is alive or where he is living just that he grew up in Astoria.

We discussed how we both hate the winter. She asked if I would please visit soon. When I told her that I live in FL she said that she has friends in FL near me. I told her that I would mail her photos & she was going to do the same. I left it up to her if she wish to share me with her children. I told her that I had a wonderful childhood & she was so so thankful.

As I am to all of you!!

Thank you Thank you Thank you for fulfilling my dream.

We will talk soon.

It has been a busy day! I sent photos to my BM this week (she will receive them tomorrow) & I received photos from her. It is so incredible to see a slight resemblance in my BM. She also sent me photos of her children which I do not see a resemblance (different fathers). I made a second call to her today to tell her that I received the photos she sent. It was a great phone call, obviously she was much more talkative than the first time. She discussed her children, grandchildren & great grandchild. She told me her son worked as a Letter Carrier in the USPS & so did I for 3 years! She also told me that she does not know whether my BF will acknowledge me as he did not want a *family back then. She hoped he had mellowed & had a family.

I had planned to call my BF today but got nervous after my BM phone call. I waited an hour & wanted to speak with you, but decided to just go for it - amnesia of the zipper or not. His wife answered & I asked for my BF by name. He was shocked when I told him. He told me that he knew that she was pregnant when he went off to the war but lost touch after that. We chatted for a very short time & he asked for my phone # & told me that he would call me back. He called back in 5 minutes & was confused why it took me so long to find him. I realized after talking to him that I had left out that my BM had put me up for adoption & he was shocked again. He felt badly but I assured him that I had wonderful parents & a wonderful childhood! He was happy & told me that he has to take a little time to process this & when was the best time to call me back. I can just imagine the conversations going on in that household this evening!!!!!!
Thank you for your excellent coaching. I think it went well on both ends. Will keep you posted.....
My life feels so rich thanks to all of you,
